MY 20-WEEK ULTRASOUND
SHOWED THE WAIT WAS WORTH IT

Veena & her twin sons

ACR is the gold standard in medical imaging

Veena and her husband's story is similar to many couples — they had difficulty conceiving. Finally, it happened. As a high-risk mother-to-be, Veena's imaging had an important role in her successful pregnancy. The pictures of hands and feet in the all-important 20-week ultrasound proved to be the event that brought the reality home — and tears of joy — to the now proud parents of healthy fraternal twin boys.
