

Oluwatoyin (Toyin) Idowu, MD

Dr. Idowu is part of Fairfax Radiological Consultants, a practice based in Fairfax, Virginia and also serves as an Adjunct Professor in the Johns Hopkins Medicine Department of Radiology. Her area of clinical expertise is diagnostic Neuroimaging, and her research interests include stroke and vascular imaging.

Dr. Idowu earned her B.A. from Washington University in St. Louis, and received her M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine. She completed her medical internship year at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York. Her diagnostic radiology residency and Neuroradiology fellowship were completed at the Johns Hopkins Hospital.