

Ariadne K. DeSimone, MD, MPH

Dr. DeSimone is an Instructor in Radiology at Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School. She received a joint MD degree from Emory University School of Medicine and MPH degree in Health Policy and Management from Emory University Rollins School of Public Health. She completed radiology residency training, including a year as Chief Resident, and fellowship training in Cardiothoracic Imaging all at Brigham and Women's Hospital/Harvard Medical School. She has a broad background in public health, health policy and management, leadership, quality and safety, and medical education.