NEW ACR RADONC WEBINAR

Join us for an exciting panel discussion on leadership featuring...

Albert Blumberg, MD
Past President of the ACR

Camille Williams, MD
ACR Commission for Women and Diversity Leader

Daniel Chang, MD
Editor for GI section of ACR Journal Advisor

Naomi Schechter, MD
Practice Parameter lead for ACR RO Commission

REGISTER HERE:
https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/1434025250620301569

JOIN US

LEADERSHIP PERSPECTIVES

Featuring ACR Radiation Oncology members in a live webinar interview
5-6pm EST / 4-5pm CST / 2-3pm PST

INTERESTED IN LEARNING MORE? CONTACT TPOWELL@ACR.ORG FOR MORE INFO
American College of Radiology (ACR): Radiation Oncology Leadership Perspectives Webinar

Feb 5th, 2020 at 5pm EST

Register here: https://register.gotowebinar.com/register/1434025250620301569

Anna M. Laucis, MD, MPhil
Moderator
Dr. Laucis is a PGY4 radiation oncology resident physician at the University of Michigan. She obtained her MD from the Duke University School of Medicine and her MPhil in Oncology degree from the University of Cambridge. She is currently serving in the elected role of Radiation Oncology Representative on the ACR RFS Executive Board. In addition to this leadership role within the ACR, Dr. Laucis also serves in the elected role of RFS Representative on the AMA Women’s Physician Section Governing Council.

Naomi R. Schechter, MD
Panelist
Dr. Schechter is a radiation oncologist specializing in the treatment of breast and head and neck cancers. As the director of quality and safety for radiation oncology at Keck Medical Center of USC, she plays a central role in building uniformity in policies and procedures, adopting national best practices and enforcing quality control in radiation oncology across the USC Health system that comply with local, state, and federal regulations. She was previously on faculty at UCSF for 7 years where she served as vice chair and director of quality assurance and patient safety and at the University of Texas, MD Anderson Cancer Center for 6 years. She served as a radiation oncologist at The Permanente Medical Group (TPMG) at Kaiser Oakland Medical Center for 2 years and has received numerous awards, including being elected to Best Doctors in America. Dr. Schechter serves as the Practice Parameter Lead within the ACR Commission on Radiation Oncology.

Albert Blumberg, MD, FACR
Panelist
Radiation Oncologist, Past President, American College of Radiology (ACR). Dr. Albert Blumberg is a radiation oncologist in Baltimore, Maryland and is affiliated with multiple hospitals in the area, including Greater Baltimore Medical Center and St. Agnes Hospital-Baltimore. He received his medical degree from Sidney Kimmel Medical College and has been in practice for more than 30 years. He currently serves as the Vice Chair of the Department of Radiation Oncology at the Greater Baltimore Medical Center as well as Secretary/Treasurer of Radiation Oncology HealthCare PA. He previously served as the Chair of the Commission on Radiation Oncology from 2008 – 2013 and as the President of the ACR from 2013 – 2014.

Daniel Chang, MD
Panelist
Currently the Sue and Bob McCollum Professor in the Department of Radiation Oncology at Stanford University, Dr. Chang specializes in radiotherapy for GI malignancies. He received his MD from Wayne State University in 2002 and completed his residency in Radiation Oncology at the University of Florida in Gainesville, Florida in 2007. He has been at Stanford University since 2007. He served as residency program director from 2012-2017, and as of 2017 has been the Vice Chair of Clinical Operations. He recently served as the senior editor for the GI section of the International Journal of Radiation Oncology, Biology, and Physics journal from 2013-2017. He has also been a member of the planning committees for both the ASCO and GI ASCO planning meetings. He is currently a member of the Hepatobiliary Panel for the NCCN guidelines. In the ACR, Dr. Chang serves as the Editor for the GI section of the ACR Journal Advisor.

Camille Williams, MD
Panelist
Dr. Williams is a Radiation Oncologist, Lecturer, Cancer Educator, Advocate & Mentor. She is currently a member of both the American College of Radiology (ACR) Commission on Radiation Oncology and ACR Commission for Women and Diversity and is the Lead Lecturer for Health Care Disparity. Dr. Williams received her medical degree from the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences where she now holds an Assistant Professor position in the Department of Radiology. She is currently in practice as a Radiation Oncologist at the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center.